

World's Pantry Server

- The «include» relationships were used to represent mandatory authentication within the system. Actions such as uploading, editing, saving, reviewing, and reporting recipes require the user to be logged in. Therefore, these use cases include the Login use case to demonstrate that authentication must occur before these actions can be performed.